MANAGELY®

Application Corrections

Large RMR Invoices Generated [00137855]

When creating RMR invoices using quantity billing that spanned more than one cycle period, the invoice item quantities were greatly inflated.

We fixed an issue where Managely did not correctly handle an RMR quantity billing invoice that spanned multiple cycle periods. For example, creating a recurring invoice with an RMR set for Qty Based Billing and a monthly Billing Cycle, but with an invoice date for the month following the cycle end date, would create an invoice detail for the current month of the RMR and the following month from the invoice date at once. Managely was multiplying the quantities together instead of adding them together.
