Managely Release Notes

November 2026

Version 5.3.77.16

Application Corrections

Memory usage fix for logging

We corrected an issue in which the application did not release some of the resources it used for logging after it finished handling a request. Each request set up its own logging resources, and those resources were never closed when the request ended. Over time, these unreleased resources built up and caused the memory used by the application to grow steadily. Only restarting the application cleared that memory.