

Document Types Overview

Last Modified on 11/02/2023 3:14 pm EDT

Each company has the ability to attach documents in various areas of the application, including a customer, site, system, work order, proposal, and vendor. When adding a new document, you must select a document type from a drop-down list. Prior to attaching a document users must first create an entry in this table for each of your document types.